NEWPORT DAILY NEWS

MONDAY, February 17, 1846.

SURGEON AND TRAGEDY SEPARATED.—A recent cable dispatch reported the loss of schooner Moira Waring, from Brunswick, Ga., for New York, the Captain and two sailors only being saved and landed at Gibralta after being on the wreck seven days without food, and having been obliged to resort to the diet of the rats which were in their ship. The survivors were picked up by the steamer Minnie Gordon, Capt. Leslie, on the 18th of December, they being in the last stage of debility from exposure and famine, and although their lives were preserved, they were still suffering from the effects of their life exposure, which would make it necessary to send them to the hospital at Gibraltar for medical treatment.—The dreadful tale of their sufferings and of the horrible necessity to which they were driven by the agony of famine is thus given by Capt. Leslie:

"D. C. 18, lat. 38° 10' N., lon. 5° W., wind W. N. W., blowing hard and heavy sea running. As daylight broke I saw, bearing N. N. E. from me, something which looked like two spar buoys standing at an angle of sixty degrees, just as far as the eye could reach. Supposing it to be a vessel in distress—although past it to the leeward of it—immediately hoisted by the wind on the port tack. As day broke clearer could make out with the glass that it was a vessel water logged, and on her beam ends; then determined to go close enough to ascertain if there were any of the crew still on the wreck. At 8:30 A. M. could, with the glass, make out what appeared two men on the port quarter. On approaching nearer saw three men waving a piece of white canvas, soon close up under the lee of the wreck and to go down large boat, in doing which staves one side of her. Mr. Charles Miller, chief officer, and three seamen started for the wreck; after great exertion and a hard pull succeeded in getting the captain and two remaining men in the boat and got safely back to the steamer, hoisted in the boat, and proceeded on the voyage, taking the wrecks, finished men into the cabin (where there was a stove) giving them dry clothing and some stimulants and small quantities of water often repeated, they having had nothing to eat or drink for seven days and nights with the exception of when the mate died two days previously, they all eat some of his raw flesh and ate it, the cook having died before the mate and his body washed overboard. They were complete skeletons, the captain being in the worst condition; his cheeks were sunken in till they appeared to touch each other; their feet and legs, as high as their knees were completely paralytic and dead from long exposure and submersion in cold water and rough ways of exercise, as they had just enough of the week above water to hold on to. They could not possibly have survived that day through had not Providence kindly sent me to their assistance. I gave them food by degrees with small doses of brandy and water, and rubbed their feet with soap liniment; then put them to sleep in the warm cabin."

On awaking the captain gave me the following account of the loss of his vessel, stating that two days previous to my falling in with him, a brig, westward bound, name unknown to him, saw them and stood toward them till quite near (another mistake at the time) when he put up helm and ran away from them. The schooner was the Moira Waring of New York, from Brunswick, Ga., bound to New York, with cargo of yellow pine flooring, encountered a heavy northeast gale on December 11, when 50 miles southeast of Abaco, shortly after which sprang a leak and was unable with both pumps going to keep her free. She settled so deep, and becoming unmanageable they cut the grapes which held the deck load, and had no sooner accomplished this than she fell over on her beam ends, and the heavy sea running at the time over her washed away deckload, cabin on deck, and all water and provisions, leaving them perfectly destitute of everything but the clothing they stood in. Their sufferings must have been very great, so much so that they found themselves obliged to cut up the mate's body, who had unfortunately succumbed before them on the fifth day. I did everything in my power to make them comfortable, and finally succeeded in bringing them to land.

Dear Admiral Eagle, who died in Philadelphia Wednesday evening, in the 60th year of his age, was a native of Delaware county, Pa., and entered the naval service in 1814. During the Mexican war he commanded the Princeton, and distinguished himself for his activity and skill in the blockading squadron.

Mrs. Swisshelm, who has hitherto handled a vigorous but abusive pen in the cause of reform in the law for ladies, is a practical representative of Woman's Rights. Some time ago, in pursuance of her theory of feminine independence, she got divorced from her husband. In further vindication of her former position as a free female she sued him for $60,000 worth of real estate near Pittsburgh. After persistent litigation she has just recovered judgment.

"That is probably the oldest piece of furniture in America," said a collector of antique curiosities to a friend, pointing to a venerable looking table as he spoke.

"How old is it?" asked the friend.

"Nearly four hundred years." "Pshaw, that is nothing. I have an article over two thousand years old."

"Indeed."

"Yes, the multiplication table."

Song of Iron.

I am mighty in the steel,

Glorious by the brave;

Languishing at the storm and wave,

Brave in the fierce piles,

Swing in the polished rod,

As it brings the deadly lightning,

Quelled and crushed to the soil,

But there is a glorious essence,

Where I take no deadly power,

Giving to the iron my soul,

Sweetest old, in deeper love,

Self before man did dare!

See the darkest Jades lost!

See the fire of health and beauty,

Take this pale check and bane,

Fly, desperate! fly, despair!

Yes, all life is cracked at length;

For I give what human nature

Only ever needed—strength!

Shall I tell in what great esteem

I can still your spirit's cheer up;

Rash, trembling, dying, am I,

"Tis the grand "Fate's" system!
